

Templates

This section allows you to choose a customizable template or to create a new one.

Choose templates based on the editor you want to use to create a message. The Drag & Drop templates section contains templates to be used with BEE, while the HTML templates section lists templates that can be used with our HTML editor.

Let's see the Drag & Drop templates section in detail.

Build your message starting from:

- Basic templates: they are basically wireframes for your new message
- Rich templates: they contain sample content to give you some design ideas
- My templates: they are previously saved custom templates

For basic or rich templates, you can:

- Preview it
- Create a copy and save it as a custom template
- Create a new message starting from the template, by clicking on NEW EMAIL.

In the "My Templates" section, you can also edit or delete templates.

Copying a template to a different list

When saving a template with BEE, you have the option to share it with other lists.

Save this template >
